

The 2019 NCWIT Collegiate Award application is open!

Know a college woman with an impactful technical project? Have a female undergraduate or graduate student who's made an amazing contribution to a research, class or individual project? Then the NCWIT Collegiate Award is a perfect fit!

Who

Any female student in a computing-related discipline attending one of the 450+ NCWIT Academic Alliance member schools! Applications are divided into three categories:

- (1) freshmen, sophomores, and two-year college students;
- (2) juniors and seniors;
- (3) graduate students.

What

The NCWIT Collegiate Award, sponsored by Qualcomm with additional support from Palo Alto Networks, recognizes technical contributions to projects that demonstrate a high level of creativity and potential impact.

When

Applications open on September 1, 2018 and due by October 15, 2018.

Where

To learn more about the Award or to apply, visit <http://bit.ly/AiCCollegiate>

Why

Each Award recipient receives:

- An award and public recognition for her technical contributions
- A cash prize ($10,000 per winner, $2,500 per honorable mention)
- A trip to the NCWIT Summit on Women and IT, in Nashville, TN in May 2019, including an award ceremony and a private networking reception with Award sponsors
- Entry into the NCWIT Aspirations in Computing Community, a research-backed network of 10,000 peers designed to mitigate isolation, provide support and encouragement, and access to hundreds of opportunities.

How

- Spread the word to personal and professional networks using our Sharing Packet!
- Encourage female college students to apply for the NCWIT Collegiate Award!

Questions? Contact aiccollege@ncwit.org.

Thank you for your support!