

MIT EMS

MIT EMS is a student-run ambulance service that provides care to the MIT, Cambridge, and Boston communities. There are so many opportunities for personal and professional development, including getting EMT-B certified, performing patient care, driving the ambulance, interfacing with other first-responders, and much more.

The EMT class will be held this IAP/Spring, and applications are open until October 14th at 11:59 PM. Please feel free to email class@ems.mit.edu if you have any questions. We are looking for more graduate students to join the service!
