

MIT ChemE

IT TAKES A VILLAGE OF TIRED PEOPLE

COMMUNITY AS PRAXIS

MAY 7TH

Community isn't just a concept—it's a verb.

Join Mel and Dré as they explore how real community is active, built through communication, trust, and care—even when it's hard. Through dialogue and hands-on activities, let's reimagine community as an ongoing practice of connection and resilience.

Mel and Dré are educators who do restorative work with vulnerable communities, facilitate intergroup dialogue and wellness workshops that integrate mind, body, spirit, somatic work and storytelling rooted in community and liberationist praxis. The dynamic duo have been catalysts for social change and cultivating joy for over 15 years.

Questions or Accommodations: cmhayles@mit.edu

| Building 66 Room 201

11:00 AM – 11:50 AM | Brunch & Learn
11:50 AM – 12:00 PM | Break
12:00 PM – 1:00 PM | Dessert & Workshop

| Come for one or both sessions!

Learn More